Boyd W. Rayward : Aware and Responsible: Papers of the Nordic-International Colloquium on Social and Cultural Awareness and Responsibility in Library, Information and Documentation Studies (SCARLID) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Aware and Responsible: Papers of the Nordic-International Colloquium on Social and Cultural Awareness and Responsibility in Library, Information and Documentation Studies (SCARLID):

3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Scandinavian-International voices in Library and Information Science. Because the table of content is not available at this time, it is given below: 1) Library and Information Science in Context: The Development of Scientific Fields and Their Relations to Professional Contexts Fredrick Astrom 2) Every Discipline Needs a History: Information Management and the Early Information Society in Britain Alistair Black 3) The Social Legitimacy of Library and Information Studies: Reconsidering the Institutional Paradigm Joacim Hansson 4) Social and Cultural Awareness and Responsibility in Library, Information, and Documentation Studies Birger Hjørland 5) Documentation in a Complementary Perspective Niels Windfeld Lund 6) Information History, Library History, or History By and Large? Remarks on Recent Discussion on Library and Information History Ilkka Mäkinen 7) Francis Bacon's Natural History and Problems of the Communication of Scientific Knowledge W. Boyd Rayward 8) Hermeneutics of Metadocumentation and Librarianship Vesa Suominen 9) Reflections on Social and Cultural Awareness and Responsibility in Library, Information and Documentation - Commentary on the SCARLID Colloquium Michael Buckland The voices in this book have been compared with the contributors to the first conferences on Conceptions in Library and Information Science (CoLIS) and some of us overlap with that conference. A third group of people engaged in the philosophical foundations of LIS are the contributors to the recent issue of Library Trends (2004, vol. 52 issue 3) on the philosophy of information. These three sources probably represent the most up-to-date and central collected sources on the conceptual foundations of LIS.

This is a collection of papers from a colloquium held in Finland in 2000 to explore ideas about the social and cultural foundations of library and information science. The contributors were from the Nordic countries predominantly with contributions from the U.K. and U.S. also.
