Cold War, Integration-Era Commentary:

No Room for Despair: How to HOPE in Troubled Times contains commentaries and advice from an American educator, activist, advocate and builder of institutions who was born in Reconstruction and wrote a newspaper column in times not unlike the present time: during the Red Scare, witch hunts, McCarthyism, the U.S. House Un-American Activities Committee investigations, the Korean Conflict, the start of the Cold War, and Civil Rights fights for equal access and equal educational opportunities.
