From Brand: Oryx Press : Operating Grants for Nonprofit Organizations 2001 before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Operating Grants for Nonprofit Organizations 2001:

2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Extremely detailed book--Find a grant for any Non-Profit By J. Schulist If you can't find at least one grant that you meet the requirements for in this book, you didn't look at the book at all! The subject index is indispensable in narrowing down the grants. I was looking for grants for our local Humane Society, so I looked up "Animal". I found listings for twenty-eight grants geared toward Animal Care and Animal Rights. I looked up each grant by its Accession number, read the details of the grant and narrowed it down to eight that I could submit to, add that to the seven general "Non-Profits" and I've got detailed information on fifteen grants, all in the matter of one evening of looking through this very detailed book. Listings for each grant include all contact information, web site addresses if available, email addresses and requirements/restrictions. You've heard of "How-To's", well this book is a "Where-To"!

Nonprofits and other organizations seeking grants and funding opportunities to support general operating expenses will find over 1,000 current operating grants--organized by state--each with contact and requirement information. Three user-friendly indexes (subject, sponsors, and geographic restrictions) help you to quickly find the right grants for your needs. Few needs are more important to a nonprofit organization than funding for operating costs. This new directory will save you time and money by focusing on grants fundamental to your organization. All types of nonprofits can benefit: arts and humanities, community development, health care, children and youth, and education. Each entry includes grant title, sponsor name and address, contact information (name and title, phone and fax numbers, email and Web site addresses), requirements and restrictions (when available), sample awards (when available), and sponsor's areas of interest.
