Adrin Sotelo Valencia : The Future of Work: Super-exploitation and Social Precariousness in the 21st Century (Studies in Critical Social Science) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Future of Work: Super-exploitation and Social Precariousness in the 21st Century (Studies in Critical Social Science):

In this wide-ranging analysis of the processes, mutations and trends currently characterizing the world of work, Adrin Sotelo V. offers important new insights into the ways these changes are bound up within the deep contradictions of a global capitalist system plagued by systemic crisis, and roots the paradigmatic shifts in social and labor relations in Neoliberalism's pro-business policies.

About the Author Adrin Sotelo Valencia, Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México (UNAM), is Professor and Researcher of the Latin Center de Estudios Latinoamericanos at the Faculty of Political and Social Sciences UNAM, Mexico.
