

[Ebook pdf] The Nonprofit Almanac 2008 (Urban Institute Press)

The Nonprofit Almanac 2008 (Urban Institute Press)

Amy Blackwood, Thomas H. Pollak, Kennard Wing
audiobook / *ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC

#4939031 in Books Urban Institute Press 2008-05-01 Original language: English PDF # 1 10.75 x 8.25 x .501, .0 #File Name: 0877667365270 pages | File size: 60.Mb

Amy Blackwood, Thomas H. Pollak, Kennard Wing : The Nonprofit Almanac 2008 (Urban Institute Press)

before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Nonprofit Almanac 2008 (Urban Institute Press):

America's nonprofit sector continues to grow faster than its business sector or its government. The Nonprofit Almanac 2008 presents data on nonprofits' place in the national economy and trends in wages, employment, private giving, volunteering and finances. The tables and graphics will give scholars, practitioners, and policymakers the data they need at a glance, while the textual analysis will help them plan for the future.

The Nonprofit Almanac 2008 is the most accessible, reader-friendly bible of data on America's extraordinary and rapidly growing civic sector, providing richer granularity of detailed, accurate information than available anywhere else in one place. For anyone who wishes to understand the dazzling complexity of our diverse panoply of robust nonprofit organizations, or to think precisely and speak authoritatively about the rich texture and pluralism of America's voluntary organizations, this volume is absolutely indispensable. --Joel L. Fleishman, Professor of Law and Public Policy, Duke University, Director, Duke Foundation Research Program, and Author, *The Foundation: A Great American Secret How Private Wealth is Changing the World*The Nonprofit Almanac fills a critical need by bringing together in one place essential and reliable data on the scope of the third sector. Moreover, the information is presented clearly and accessibly. Unlike other reference books that sit pristinely on the shelf, my copy of the previous edition is well-worn and full of post-it notes. This new edition arrives not a moment too soon! --Lawrence T. McGill, Senior Vice President of Research, the Foundation CenterThis volume is absolutely indispensable. The textual analyses are clear, rigorous, and trenchant. The accompanying data depict various maps of the sector that are fascinating and often surprising. A copy of the Nonprofit Almanac should be on the bookshelf of or, even better, at the right hand of anyone seriously interested in civil society in the United States. --Harvey P. Dale, University Professor of Philanthropy and the Law, New York University The Nonprofit Almanac 2008 is the most accessible, reader-friendly bible of data on America's extraordinary and rapidly growing civic sector, providing richer granularity of detailed, accurate information than available anywhere else in one place. For anyone who wishes to understand the dazzling complexity of our diverse panoply of robust nonprofit organizations, or to think precisely and speak authoritatively about the rich texture and pluralism of America's voluntary organizations, this volume is absolutely indispensable. Joel L. Fleishman, Professor of Law and Public Policy, Duke University, Director, Duke Foundation Research Program, and Author, *The Foundation: A Great American Secret How Private Wealth is Changing the World*The Nonprofit Almanac fills a critical need by bringing together in one place essential and reliable data on the scope of the third sector. Moreover, the information is presented clearly and accessibly. Unlike other reference books that sit pristinely on the shelf, my copy of the previous edition is well-worn and full of post-it notes. This new edition arrives not a moment too soon! Lawrence T. McGill, Senior Vice President of Research, the Foundation CenterThis volume is absolutely indispensable. The textual analyses are clear, rigorous, and trenchant. The accompanying data depict various maps of the sector that are fascinating and often surprising. A copy of the Nonprofit Almanac should be on the bookshelf of or, even better, at the right hand of anyone seriously interested in civil society in the United States. Harvey P. Dale, University Professor of Philanthropy and the Law, New York UniversityAbout the AuthorKennard T. Wing is a senior consultant, focusing on consulting for improved operational effectiveness and applied research. He was a senior researcher on the Nonprofit Overhead Cost Project and has won an Excel Award from the Society of National Association Publications. Thomas H. Pollak is program director of the National Center for Charitable Statistics (NCCS), a program of the Center on Nonprofits and Philanthropy at the Urban Institute. Mr. Pollak manages NCCS's web site, data development, and online data services. Amy Blackwood is a consultant with the Urban Institute's National Center for Charitable Statistics. Ms. Blackwood's work with NCCS has focused on examining public charities in the health and education subsectors.